GRAM GAMES ANNOUNCES NEW ACCELERATION PROGRAM FOR INDIE GAME DEVELOPERS

ISTANBUL - February 20, 2015 - Gram Games, the mobile game studio and publisher of puzzle game hit 1010!, has unveiled their new acceleration program in Istanbul, today. The program, 2Tons, is designed to support local indie game developers.

Developer teams with published games or working titles at any stage of development will be able to apply for the program. Following an evaluation process, eligible teams will be accepted and have access to the benefits.

2Tons aims to provide several benefits in specific topics like incorporation, help on how to succeed in the mobile market, free ad space upon launch, technical support, and tips about finding investors.

Differing from most acceleration programs that are available to developers, 2Tons will be entirely free of charge and with no strings attached.

Gram Games will be announcing the details of the program, and the application process on the 2Tons website very soon.
